

Bruno Rocha

Curriculum Vitæ

Updated: July 11, 2022

NOVA University of Lisbon
School of Social Sciences and Humanities
Avenida de Berna, 26-C
Lisbon, 1069-061

brunorocha@fsh.unl.pt
(+351) 962 367 748

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- NOVA University of Lisbon Political Studies Department
 › Invited Assistant, 2020-present.

EDUCATION

- NOVA University of Lisbon, Ph.D. in International Relations, 2021-present;
- NOVA University of Lisbon, M.A. in International Relations, 2021;
- NOVA University of Lisbon, B.A. in Political Science and International Relations, 2018.

FIELDS OF INTEREST

- International Relations Theory, International Practice Theory, Field-Theory, Foreign Policy Analysis, Diplomacy, Contemporary History of Portugal and Modern History of Germany, Ethnography.

PUBLICATIONS

- Book Reviews 1. “Uma defesa do nacionalismo e do Estado-Nação”, Review of Yael Tamir, Why Nationalism (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2019), R:I, No. 62 (June 2019): 105-110.
- Other Articles 1. “A History of the Portuguese Political Science Association”, Participation (Bulletin of the International Political Science Association), Vol. 42, No. 1 (August 2019): 17.

WORK IN PROGRESS

- Ph.D. Thesis » “Between Discourses, Stories and Practices: The Constitution of the Multilateral Triangle of Foreign Policy in the Portuguese Diplomatic Culture during the Democratic Period” (provisory title)

AWARDS, FELLOWSHIPS, AND GRANTS

- International Political Science Association, IPSA-Concordia Summer School, Tuition Grant, June 2022
- Portuguese Science and Technology Foundation, Doctoral Fellowship, 2021-present
- Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs, MIRAI Program Fellowship, November 2019

CONFERENCES AND PRESENTATIONS

- Conference Participant
 1. Presentation of the Working Paper “Conceptualizing a Transnational Field of Power: Nationalism’s Practice and External Dimension” (with André Marinha), International Political Science Association (IPSA), 26th Congress, Lisbon, Portugal (Virtual Platform);
 2. Presentation of the Working Paper “Redesigning the Boundaries of Protest: Movement Solidarity and Common Repertoires of Critique in Portugal” (with André Marinha), International Political Science Association (IPSA), 26th Congress, Lisbon, Portugal (Virtual Platform);
 3. Presentation of the Working Paper “Records Of The Virus: Envisaging Alternative Futures Through Testimonial Practices” (with André Marinha), European Sociological Association (ESA), 15th Congress, Barcelona, Spain (Virtual Platform).
- Invited Talks
 1. University of Minho, History of International Relations Course, B.A. in International Relations, March 2021.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

- NOVA University of Lisbon
 1. International Institutions, B.A, 2020-22
 2. History of Portuguese International Relations, B.A., 2021-23
- CIEE Lisbon
 1. World Government, Summer Course, 2021

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

- Professional Associations
 1. Member, IPSA, International Political Science Association;
 - > Member of the Local Organising Committee of the 26th IPSA World Congress 2021
 2. Member, ESA, European Sociological Association

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

- Methods Course, Data Science with R, GADES Training, Lisbon, May-July 2022
- IPSA-Concordia Summer School, Applied Diplomacy, Concordia University, Montreal, 2022

- Summer School, Ethnography: Weaving the Thread Between Methodological Practice and Writing, Instituto de Ciências Sociais, University of Lisbon, Portugal, 2020;
- Summer School, Qualitative Data Analysis with MAXQDA, Instituto de Ciências Sociais, University of Lisbon, Portugal, 2020;
- Academic Exchange to Waseda University (Tokyo, Japan), MIRAI Program, 2019;
- Erasmus+ Program to University of Pisa (Italy), 2018.

LANGUAGES

- English (fluent), French (reading), Italian (reading), Portuguese (native) and Spanish (reading)